

LINES OF SYMMETRICAL THOUGHT

Kaspara Albertsen photography

Toronto-based Norwegian photographer, Kaspara Albertsen, draws her inspiration from the stark drama of Northern Norway's stunning landscape, where she works primarily with natural lighting, taking full advantage of the midnight sun. Kaspara studied performing arts in Trondheim, Norway before returning to Halifax to study Classics at Dalhousie University, where she discovered her passion for photography. Her exhibition explores the bold symmetry and quiet drama inspired by Art Deco art and design.
